Report Of County Treasurer Shows $398,279.22 Balance On Hand, Hurry Relief Plans

The annual report of County Treasurer Arthur Rice was filed with the board of supervisors Monday evening and referred to the committee on County Treasurer and Sealer. This report showed a balance on hand at the close of the year, October 31, 1933, of $398,279.22 of which $237,013.45 is given as "sundry" in the unappropriated general fund. There is a balance of $7,218.87 in the court and jury fund; the balance in the Old Age Relief Fund is $793.90; there is a balance of $29,670.01 in the highway, State Aid Fund and State Fund for Maintenance and $102,726.71 in special trust funds on deposit making a total of cash in the hands of the county treasurer of $398,279.22.

Before the meeting adjourned Mr. Rice explained to the members of the board the necessity of quick action if the towns and county desired to participate in the Federal Civil Works Administration funds which will be available from the Federal government. He stated that while the plans were not entirely completed speed was necessary in county and town projects to be submitted so that the locality might benefit from the Federal funds. There has been provided $400,000.00 to be expended between December first and February 15, in the county. In order to share in the money it is necessary to have submitted work projects by December first. The Federal government will pay the whole cost of labor for these projects all that the county or town must provide is the equipment to carry on the work. Town and county projects must be submitted by December first in order to get in on the fund and several of the supervisors stated that they were willing to lay out projects in their towns to keep the men busy until February 15.

It was suggested that the county

Billiards And Bullet Featured In Shooting Of Oil Fortune Heir One Case Disposed Of Quarrel Between Sheldon A. Clark and Wife Features Climax When She Is Alleged To Have Shot Him in Chest After Recounting Blow on Head From One—Mrs. Clark in Hospital With Severe Injury.

Paulboro, N. J., Nov. 21 (AP).—A bullet ended the colorful career of Sheldon A. Clark, wealthy young oil company executive and sportsman, after a quarrel with his wife who told police today she does not recall what happened after he hit her with a billiard cue.

Mrs. Clark, a former actress, is under police guard at a hospital with a severe head injury. Six stitches were required to close the wound which investigators said was inflicted before the shooting last night. No charge was placed against her.

Clark, 35-year-old son of A. Sheldon Clark, of Barrington, Ill., senior vice president of the Sinclair Refining Company, and prominent in Illinois and an industrial and civic leader, met almost instant death from a bullet in the breast while he stood in the billiard room in the basement of his 16-room mansion.

A six-year-old son of the Clarks, Sheldon, Jr., a small playmate, Nicholas Lubrano, 6, and George Johnson, a Paulboro iron worker who had been hired by Clark for some work on a boat, witnessed the killing. Another child, Harry, 5, was in a nearby room.

Police quoted Johnson as stating the quarrel began when he and Clark were playing billiards. Mrs. Clark told her husband dinner was ready and he replied he intended to have dinner at the home of a cousin. Mrs. Clark asked him to spend more evenings at home, the witness stated.

Johnson said the argument grew warmer and Clark finally followed his wife into the dining room, carrying the cue.

Mrs. Lavina Brown, a housekeeper, told investigators the Clarks entered the dining room while arguing about dinner.

"Suddenly Mr. Clark growled: 'If you want an argument, I'll give you one,'" Mrs. Brown told Chief of Police Winfield Matson.

"And with that he hit her over the head with the heavy end of the billiard cue, breaking it," the housekeeper related. "Mr. Clark went down to the billiard room again."

Johnson said he and Clark returned their game and after a few minutes Mrs. Clark entered, with a bloody towel wrapped around her head.

"Then she said: 'Sheldon you've killed me,'" Johnson told Chief Matson.

"She reached into the folds of the towel around her head and pulled out a .45 calibre revolver. She pointed it at him before I had time to move—or he had time to do anything—and fired."

"The bullet hit him in the chest and knocked him right over," Police said Mrs. Clark walked upstairs to the housekeeper and told her she had shot her husband. Then she collapsed.

At the hospital early today, Mrs. Clark told Chief Matson she did not remember shooting her husband.

"I don't recall anything after he hit me on the head with the billiard cue," he quoted her as saying.

Johnson was held in $100 bail as a material witness.

In recent years Clark had been employed by the Sinclair Refining Company as a special engineer and a promoter. He found time, however, to earn a reputation as a sportsman and a yachtsman.

Mrs. Clark who is 25, was the former Miss Audrey Smith, of Brooklyn, N. Y., where her family still resides. They were married in Richmond, Va., while she was playing in a road company. They moved to Paulboro three years ago. Clark and his first wife, now living in Omaha, were divorced. A 15-year-old son is with her.

Stratosphere Balloon Lands Safely In New Jersey Marshes

Commander Settle and Major Fordney Sleep Throughout the Night Wrapped Up In Deflated Fabric of Balloon, While Hundreds Search Throughout Southern New Jersey—Major Fordney Reports Unofficial Altitude of 59,000 Feet.

Bridgeport, N. J., Nov. 21 (AP).—America's first stratosphere balloon jolted to rest in the marsh land southwest of Bridgeport, at 3:50 p. m. yesterday.

As hundreds of persons searched the pine woods, cranberry bogs and cultivated farms in southern New Jersey, Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. "Tex" Settle and his aide, Major Chester L. Fordney, slept the night through wrapped up in the deflated fabric of their big balloon, awaiting daybreak.

At 8:44 a. m., Major Fordney trudged through the marsh lands, walking until 9:30 a. m., when he reached the farm house of S. N. Johnson, nine miles southwest of Bridgeport.

"I'm hungry and I'd like to use the telephone," calmly announced Fordney to the startled farmer. Then he took up the telephone and notified the world of the balloonists' triumph.

"We had a delightful and untoward trip," Major Fordney said, "except that we came down so fast we had to throw things overboard as fast as we could to lighten ship."

"Although it was a pretty rapid landing, neither of us was hurt. We took our bearings, saw we were in marshy ground, surrounded by woods and that it would be best just to put up for the night. So we got out of the gondola, wrapped up in the balloon and slept for the night."

"Leaving 'Tex' to stand watch over the balloon, I struck out for civilization at 8:44."

At this point Major Fordney showed he was still uncertain of the time by saying he had reached the farm house at 9 a. m. A bystander corrected him, and he said: "Oh, no, I guess it wasn't 9 o'clock. It was 9:30."

As he talked the major was helping himself to a breakfast of fried ham, potatoes and black coffee. Meanwhile, by telephone, he was relaying cross-country the details of the balloonists' experiences as they soared 11 miles above the earth yesterday.

As he chatted gayly—the usual reserve of the army officer giving way to his panderable glee—Major Fordney glanced occasionally at his muddy shoes, and the marks of water which at times had almost reached his waist.

According to the altimeter within the gondola, Major Fordney said the highest altitude reached was 59,000 feet but the actual height attained must be officially checked.

Major Fordney reported the landing as government airplanes were zooming over South Jersey and searching the sea.

Some doubt was first expressed when it was reported the landing occurred at 5:50 p. m., eastern standard time yesterday, but Major Fordney dissolved this when he said they settled in the marshy ground at 17:50 o'clock, which is navigators' time.

The major said that Commander Settle deemed the flight as a "normal ballooning operation."

In landing they lost some photographs, Fordney said, and some other accessories. He said they were fortunate in preserving all essential equipment. The balloon was not seriously damaged.

The Johnson family were greatly surprised at the arrival of their unexpected guest and Mrs. Johnson and three daughters, Rae, Harriet and Alice, immediately prepared breakfast for the major and something for the commander.

As soon as word was received in Bridgeport, hundreds of persons started for the scene of the landing in all sorts of vehicles. A government plane hovered over the spot shortly after the landing became known.

KERESMAN NAMED TREASURER OF 51st PIONEER INFANTRY

Peter Keresman of this city, who served with F Company, 51st Pioneer Infantry, has been appointed by Percy H. Roe of Catskill, president of the Fifty-first Pioneer Infantry Association, to fill the unexpired term of the late Charles T. Dixon, who at the time of his death was treasurer of the organization. Mr. Keresman has been an enthusiastic worker in the association since it was organized in this city in 1924 and his appointment to the office of treasurer is in recognition of his cooperation towards the success of this veterans' organization. There is no doubt but that his appointment will meet with the approval of the large membership which the Fifty-first Pioneer Infantry Association enjoys.

King Pledges World Disarmament Effort At Historic Opening

Brilliant Display at Parliament Inauguration as King Says His Government Will Support and Promote Peace in the World—Comments Upon Steady Economic Coumback of Nation

London, Nov. 21, (AP).—King George, in a scene of historic pageantry at the opening of Parliament today, pledged Britain's continued efforts toward a world disarmament agreement through the League of Nations.

"The central purpose of my government in international affairs," His Majesty declared in inaugurating the new session, "is to promote and sustain by every means in their power, peace in the world."

"With this object in view, my government will continue to cooperate with other governments endeavoring to reach a satisfactory solution of the complicated questions of disarmament in order to achieve a settlement acceptable to all and to attain fruitful results from the prolonged labors of the disarmament conference."

Beside the King as the speech was delivered from the throne sat Queen Mary. Before them, in a setting of regal splendor, were peers in scarlet and ermine, peeresses in rich crowns and jewels, diplomats resplendent in their royal uniforms.

The royal procession, with their Majesties in a golden coach, rolled along the Mall and thence through Whitehall for the ceremonial opening at noon.

There was a drizzle of rain in blue-gray mists as the royal groom, wearing the royal Macintosh and a cockaded hat, led the procession from Buckingham Palace.

"My government," continued His Majesty in a discussion of international relations, "will remain determined to uphold the work of international cooperation by collective action through the machinery of the League of Nations and in all other ways calculated to further good relations between all states and all peoples."

Dealing with Britain's economic situation, the King said: "The past year has been marked by a steady growth of confidence in the future prospects of British trade and industry."

"In the opinion of my government, it is of the first importance that this confidence should be maintained and increased, since it lies at the root of any lasting improvement in the conditions of the country."

CHRISTMAS CLUB FUNDS LESS IN SAUGERTIES THIS YEAR

The Saugerties Bank in this village will release the sum of $24,000 and the National Bank and Trust Company will release the sum of $8,500, which is the amount of money paid in on the Christmas Clubs. This is a decrease of about $9,000 over last year.

Barge Canal Freezes Solid.

Little Falls, N. Y., Nov. 21 (AP).—The barge canal froze solidly during last night, imprisoning an oil tank steamer, a tug and four grain-laden barges. The icebreaker Roosevelt was at work today opening a channel to permit the icebound craft to proceed eastward.

Budget Group Meets To Prepare Its Report For Tax Reductions

Governor's Advisory Group Will Convene Tomorrow at Albany to Consider Findings of Various Departments for Continued Savings and Discontinuance of New Emergency Levies

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 21 (AP).—Following up last year's drastic cuts in state expenditures, Governor Lehman's budget advisory committee will meet tomorrow with Abraham Weber, director of the budget, to start compiling its official report which will recommend enough new economies to make it unnecessary to continue the emergency taxes adopted at the last two sessions of the legislature.

The investigation of the various state departments is now complete and the work of coordinating the departmental reports and preparing the general recommendations will be undertaken at once so that the final report will be ready for submission early in December.

The committee last year recommended state economies amounting to $51,000,000, a large number of which are adopted in the present budget. G. William Magly, chairman of the committee, has this to say regarding the budget now in preparation:

"While the opportunities for retrenchment are not so plentiful as last year, nevertheless, there are places where savings can be effected. We hope that economies of last year may be retained, and are giving careful scrutiny to items that have a tendency to increase."

Magly also expressed hope that the emergency taxes—one per cent on retail sales and one per cent on gross income—can be dropped by the next legislature.

"It is hoped," he said, "that sufficient economies can be maintained in the state government to render unnecessary the continuance of emergency taxes to keep the state budget balanced."

The plan and budget director, which meets with Budget Director Weber tomorrow and Thursday is composed of Chairman Magly, Henry Bruere of New York, Mark A. Daly of Buffalo, Lawrence R. Eilman of New York, Merwin K. Hart of Utica, George H. McCaffrey of New York, William E. Robertson of Buffalo, C. R. White of Ionia and John H. Wright of Jamestown.

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP).—The position of the treasury on November 18 was: Receipts, $7,984,067.41; expenditures, $18,254,362.50; balance, $1,254,313,221.97. Customs receipts for the month, $1,532,166.27. Receipts for the fiscal year to date (since July 1), $1,634,213,214.25; expenditures, $1,722,426,166.56 (including $582,226,584.19 for emergency relief); excess of expenditures, $828,212,952.57.

SHOE COMPANY GIVES EMPLOYEES BIG GIFT

The 18,000 employees of the Endicott Johnson Corporation, at Endicott will have something tangible to be thankful for at the coming Thanksgiving season.

The directors of the company have announced that all moneys deducted from wages for the support of the medical department for the nine months ending September 5 this year will be refunded to the workers just as soon as the books can be made up and the amounts figured.

This means that approximately $650,000 will be distributed to the workers as soon as checks can be made out. This is in addition to a recent advance in wages amounting to 20 per cent, or an increase in pay roll totaling about $4,000,000 a year.

MARY MCCORMICK TO FORGET PRINCE IN POTATO PATCH

New York, Nov. 21 (AP).—Mary McCormick, singer of opera who was divorced November 14 in Los Angeles from Serge Mdivani, is planning another marriage and life on a Connecticut farm that has "cows and potato patches."

Miss McCormick said last night that she and Harry Bannister, film actor and former husband of Ann Harding of the screen, will be married January 29.

"We are going to live on a Connecticut farm," she said, "that has cows and potato patches and things like that. I love to dig potatoes."

Criminal Calendar in County Court Monday.

Months In The County Jail—Robert Roy Brown Narcotic Case Is Set Down For Trial on Friday.

Monday afternoon the criminal calendar was called in county court in an effort to ascertain what cases might be disposed of. District Attorney Cleon B. Murray announced that he was ready to proceed to trial with practically all of the cases on the calendar when reached. It is expected that on Wednesday at 10 o'clock additional cases will be disposed of and that trial work may start on Friday when the Robert Roy Brown narcotic case is set down for trial. Brown, a lower Kingston negro, is charged with violation of the narcotic law. His case has been pending some time and the court directed Palmer Canfield, attorney for Brown, to come in Friday prepared to take up the trial. Mr. Canfield asked that he have time to get witnesses here from Washington and Missouri.

The only case on the calendar which was disposed of was the Matthew Freeman assault case. Freeman is charged with an assault on Mary McPhail last July. He entered a plea of guilty when his case was moved for trial. Daniel Hoffman asked the court to be lenient in the matter of sentence. Judge Traver sentenced Freeman to nine months in the county jail.

Charles DePuy was haled before the court and promised to pay $4 weekly toward the support of his child. A report submitted by the probation officer was classified as "poor" and Judge Traver directed DePuy to begin to make good by paying the required weekly allowance. DePuy stated that he had been engaged in the quarry business but it had not turned out well and he had been unable to pay regularly. He informed the court that he had made some payments and that he had also turned over to his wife an insurance check which he figured paid up for about a year. The check, he said had not been turned over to the probation officer, but direct to his wife. Judge Traver informed him that it was impossible to try out his family difficulties in the present action and that in the future payments be made through the probation officer in order that a record might be kept of the matter. The case was put over until the January term and DePuy directed to make good.

Slot Machine Case.

The case of The People vs. George and Peter Cohen and Moe Rand of Oak Ridge was called. Lloyd R. LeFever appeared for LeRoy Lounsbury, attorney for the defendants, and stated that Mr. Lounsbury was engaged in court in Ellenville and would take up the matter of the trial of the case at a later date. The matter was held until Monday next when Mr. Lounsbury is expected to appear. This is the matter which grew out of the seizure of slot machines last fall near Ellenville by Special Constable George Roy Van Aken. He had seized machines at the direction of a court order and was bringing them into the village when it is alleged three men set upon him, beat him up and took away the machines. Later arrests were made and indictments followed.

Millican Case Put Over.

The case of Mason Millican, a manslaughter charge growing out of an accident on the Saugerties road, was put over until January on request of A. J. Cook. He stated that there were civil cases pending and that disposition of the civil cases might also terminate the criminal actions. It is alleged that a truck of the defendant was parked along the highway near Lake Katrine and a passing car crashed into it, killing three people.

Charged with Abandonment.

James Hicks again appeared before the court. He is charged with abandonment and failure to provide for his minor children. The court informed Mr. Hicks that he must make good payments and report to Probation Officer Service or go to jail. Palmer Canfield appeared for Hicks and said that Hicks had money due him for work but could not get it. Hicks was told he would either have to obey the court order or go to jail and was given until the January term to make up his mind which he preferred to do.

Raymond Shay, charged with failure to provide compensation for workmen, failed to appear in court, and a bench warrant was directed. Shay was represented at former hearings by Lloyd R. LeFever, but Mr. LeFever said he had been unable to get his client to appear in court.

Counsel Assigned.

Clayton Tieselt of Albany avenue extension, who is charged took a man named Clapper from Mr. Tremper for a ride in his car and then proceeded to take his guest's watch and money, stated to the court that his attorney, Arthur R. Exler, no longer appeared for him. He said Mr. Exler "could not take my case on account of something about election."

He asked that the court assign counsel and Nicholas J. Fowler was assigned.

The case of Gerald Saures was adjourned until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Lloyd R. LeFever was assigned. Saures is charged with the taking of an automobile in Kingston.

Indictment Dismissed.

An indictment against Samuel Fischer was dismissed at the request of the district attorney.

Scarnici Trial Begun Under a Heavy Guard: 13th Juror Is Called

Presiding Judge Overrules Attorney's Objections and Swings Into Case—Two Followers of Gunman Also on Trial—Causing in O'Connell Dragged—Using New Jury Law.

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP).—Rensselaer county today began the trial of Leonard Scarnici, New York hoodlum leader, and two followers, whose lives are demanded for the alleged murder of a detective during a Rensselaer city bank robbery last May.

Under the eyes of State Troopers, deputy sheriffs and city police, the shackled gangsters were hurried through crowded streets and into a crowded court room. Machine guns, with officers at the triggers, pointed down on the alleyway and court house entrance, along which the trio was brought.

Although lawyers for Scarnici and Anthony Reino objected to going to trial, contending they had not had enough time to prepare a case, County Judge James F. Brearton brushed aside the objection and called the first venireman.

William F. and John H. Murray are the Scarnici-Reino lawyers. Michael I. Winter of New York city represents Charles Herzog, alias Shore.

The three, who were arrested in a round-up of suspects in the John J. O'Connell kidnapping case, were charged with shooting James Stevens, a Rensselaer detective. Rensselaer is an industrial city across the Hudson River from Albany.

All of the three are young. Reino is in his early twenties. Scarnici is charged with many crimes. The New York police believed he killed Vincent Coll, young New York gang leader. He is regarded as a bird killer, whose machine gun may be employed in any enterprise.

When Federal agents and New York city detectives tightened the net in the O'Connell kidnapping search they caught Scarnici, Reino, Shore, the young wives of Scarnici and Reino, Fred Plenti and a fourth man, since released.

Junior League Cites Cases in Appeal

Three hundred and ten babies in Kingston receive such care from The Junior League Health Station as makes them properly fed and clothed; and therefore happy and healthy; there they are given the start from which they will most easily develop into normal citizens able to do their part in the community. The league is now facing the problem of maintaining the clinic for another year. The alternative is to turn away certain of the helpless cases. To which shall the door be shut?

Will it be pale, underweight 18 months old Mary whose mother has just started bringing her there because she had not been able to walk yet and cried most of the time? Her rickets and anaemia, brought on by lack of nourishment and proper care, are being corrected under the expert supervision of the Junior League doctor and nurse and color is beginning to steal into Mary's cheeks and she is smiling most of the time. Surely she could not be deprived of the care which will assure her being a normal little girl and not a case for a public institution.

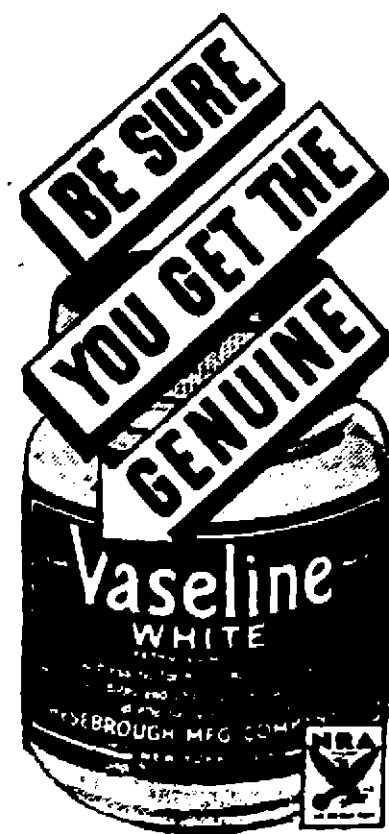

But here is Johnny. His eager, red checked little face is wreathed in smiles as he is lifted up to be weighed and measured and heard that he is about the most perfect two year old the doctor has; for Johnny has been brought regularly to the clinic all his short life and now his mother is attending the prenatal clinic there to insure her health as well as that of Johnny's new little sister or brother.

Could Johnny and his mother hear that they no longer have this care for him? Which has made him such a perfect specimen? And without this supervision he and the new baby may become forlorn, sickly children like little Mary and the city and state may have two more to care for because an undernourished body means a starved brain and that inevitably leads to lack of ability to cope with the problems of life in later years.

Everyone has a chance, though, to assure Mary and Johnny and all the other needy babies in Kingston of the care so necessary in their vital first years of life by attending the rerun which will be presented by The Junior League December 20 for the maintenance of their Health Station at 36 Meadow street.

Tracy a "Red Hound."

Mexico, D. F., Nov. 21 (AP).—Lee Tracy, the movie star, was released on his own recognizance pending further police investigation of complaints that he offended public morals when he allegedly shouted at a hotel balcony. Police cadets from a hotel balcony said they received complaints that he was drunk and had a blanket wrapped about himself.

Fly To Europe By 'Hop, Skip And Jump' —U. S. Aid Sought For Seadrome Test

By HOWARD W. BLAKEMORE

(Associated Press Science Editor)

New York (AP)—Their slogan "New York to London in 30 hours"—the big seadrome men have hopes of victory in the first round of a three-cornered contest for establishing regular transatlantic flying service.

These hopes rest on the announcement that the Public Works administration is considering granting a $1,500,000 loan for immediate experiments on a quarter-section of a sea-drome—a floating island of steel. It is one of five projected to be anchored every 500 miles on a path across the Atlantic.

Two Other Contestants.
The two other contestants are the dirigible advocates, on one hand, and the one-hop plane advocates, on the other. The latter point to an order by one of the big air lines for six planes with a 3,000 mile cruising radius.

The seadromes, as modeled, resemble flat oval docks on tall piers, their tops almost completely bare steel flooring, under which are two floors of hotel and hangars. This superstructure stands on hollow steel columns, with buoyancy tanks at the bottom to keep the drome afloat.

The flying deck is to be 1,225 feet long, 200 feet wide amidships, 150 feet in girth at the rounded ends.
The columns will be 300 feet long, holding the deck 100 feet above the surface.

Cable Three Miles Long.

The drome will be fastened by a three-mile cable to a 1,500-ton anchor, saucer-shaped and made to float until inner chambers are flooded with water. The anchor will be

Bug Hunters Do K. P. At Boiceville Camp

Shokan, Nov. 20.—Camp No. 2, C.
C. C., at Boiceville presented an animated appearance this morning as the men of the 215th Company, most of whom ordinarily are engaged in field work during the daytime, dispersed themselves about the grounds in the performance of their several duties. A big gang was at work on the woodpile near the kitchen shack, where seasoned oak cordwood is worked up with two-man cross-cut saws into lengths for the two army cooking ranges and a score or more of box stoves. Other men had been detailed to dig trenches for the piping of the camp water system and were working six or eight feet down in the gravelly subsoil of the grounds. Every one appeared to have something to do and was doing it; there apparently is little loafing done within the confines of the big camp during working hours, nor is there ever a dearth of jobs for the boys when inclement weather or some other factor militates against operation in the woods. The camp is much like a farm in this respect—there is always one more (at least) thing to be done.

Construction work on the assembly hall has been suspended temporarily, pending the arrival of more lumber.
As separate recreation units were not included in the initial building program, the supply of boards on hands fell far short of the quantity needed for erecting the hall. A building has been put up, however, for storing supplies for the eight trucks at the camp, and it is planned to construct an office for the C.
C. C. department on the same site of the recreation building, or 20x72 feet. The new drinking water system at the spring near John Mc-Kevley's home is now in operation, the electric motor and other equipment being in charge of Ben Frankel, stationary engineer of the camp, who has his sleeping quarters in the spring-house. This water will also be available in the bath house for emergency use in case the Esopus creek supply is cut off by freshets, freezing and so forth. The new kitchen in the north end of the mess hall will be occupied early next week. The ranges and boilers are all in place but the sinks have not yet arrived.

Camp Chatter
A new commissioned officer has arrived at Boiceville in the person of Nathan Armour, who is second lieutenant in the infantry reserves. Lieutenant Armour has been made message officer as a part of his duties at the camp. The other members of the commissioned officer personnel are Lieutenants Otto Wiesbeck, H. B.
Whitman and Sydney Freilich. . .
Frank Mikittich, popular C. C. C. cook and member of the boxing squad, is confined to quarters with a severe cold. Frank is being attended by Lieutenant Freilich, the camp medical officer. . . Leland Caserio of Marlborough, a member of the basketball team, has been promoted to second cook. . . Captain Parish of Albany, chaplain of the second conservation corps district, was a caller at Camp No. 2 during the week. On Saturday an inspection was scheduled to be made by Major Blackwell, district surgeon and also of Albany.
Several of the boys have embarked in the fur business on a limited scale, their latest catch having been a skunk. . . Vergie Carney of Saugerties and Jimmy Tiano of Kingston essayed the role of valet trappers and Tony Carpio of East Kingston experimentally relieved the carcass of its valuable pelt. Net profits, split three ways—four bits or one-half of a dollar.

The basketball quintet naturally is a bit cheery over having walloped the Hunter five, 51-27, Friday night. November 10, in the home team's first game of the season. Caserio, six-foot-er plus and former Marlborough High star, tossed 9 fields, while Glenn of Clintondale and Malloy of Scotia helped the good work along.

Traphagen, former All-DUSO ace, played the first quarter after which he coached in place of Lieutenant Freilich, who had a bad cold. Next Friday night the woodsmen will try conclusions with the Irish Block Five at the Chichester hall. . . The traveling library was expected to arrive from one of the other camps on Saturday. This is an event keenly anticipated by the boys. . . All sheets and pillow cases must be laundered once a week, and the small charge for this service is chalked up against the members of the company for satisfaction on pay day. . . A novel and effective fire going in use at the camp is an old circular saw, suspended outside of one of the barracks and near the fire buckets. A heavy iron bolt is parked handy to the saw for sounding the tocsin. A big "feed" is being planned for the night before Thanksgiving and this is going to be a banquet of the first order. The menu for Saturday's supper was as follows: Green peas, fish cakes, tomato sauce, creamed potatoes, col-fee, sugar, milk, bread, butter, bread pudding, vanilla sauce. . . Mrs. Shu-llis of Chichester has extended a general and standing invitation to the boys to make use of the well known Shullis skating pond near the Shandaken industrial center. . . About one-third of Olive and one-half of Shandaken have been covered by the woodsmen in the course of their gymnastic hunting activities during the past eight months. There remains in Olive much of the mountainous country extending from the reservoir west to the Denning and Shandaken lines.
Maps in the office of Superintendent Ralph Craner show the progress of the work as well as the nature of the forest throughout the different tracts laid out for scouting work. Crews are still engaged in trail making in the Woodland Valley and the Belle Ayr Mountain sector.

Outside News.
Happy Days, the corps newspaper, is always replete with interesting news of the hundreds of C. C. C. camps. On the front page of its issue of November 11, it carries two pictures of "Ridgepole Jim" Scott, an Ashe County, North Carolina, lad who has made good at Camp Bragg.
Jim, tallest peevish of them all, stands seven feet in his socks and all, and the shoes that house those Carrera-like legs are—No. 17E's. It took the government an extra day to get Big-Boy Scott properly outfitted. "Wotta man!" It is perhaps not too late for one more deer story, and this one comes, not from Wittenberg, but out of Glenburn, Calif., where one of 561's enrollees while felling timber threw his axe at a big buck and scored a hit, though the deer got away. Eight days later he shot a buck which proved to be the one which he had previously wounded with his trusty axe. . . At Driftwood, Pa., where the lads of No. 279 were still shivering in tents while the carpenters hustled to get them "under wood," the deer were grazing peacefully within gunshot and the boys were wishing the open season would hurry up (their season is later than ours as every well-informed Nimrod is aware).

Company 219, stationed at Challenge, Calif., tackled 57 forest fires during the summer and fall. Hot stuff. Incidentally a total of 960 forest fires were reported to Rocky Mountains national forests during the season, and no less than 645 of these fires were started by lightning. . .
The boys of Co. 259, "got the breaks" in the fall shake-up in Montana, and are now happy. After experiencing several snow storms and cold weather, no end, the outfit was transferred to Miami, where they are stationed in the old army which was Jack Shark's training quarters. At Columbia Falls they were 47 miles from the nearest town; now they are only two blocks from the Madison Square Garden Stadium and but a "hoot and a holler" from winter salt water swimming. What joy, what bliss! . . . Lieutenant Downing of the 301st outfit, Masten, Pa., believes in bringing 'em back alive. Passing a silver grey fox on the road he got out of his car and after a lively scuffle succeeded in subduing the animal and brought it into camp. . . In the period, June to September, blister rust crews from Camp Pawtuckaway, N. H., covered 4,000 acres and destroyed 342,139 wild current and gooseberry bushes. Blister rust, fatal to the white pine tree, does not spread from pine to pine, but transfers itself to these wild bushes and thence back to the pine. The rust season is now over and the men are working on road-making and forest improvement.

Other Breezy Items.
The educational movement in the camps is going strong, with a wide range of subjects and methods of schooling being offered. Seventy men from Co. 1507 at Dyerville, Colo., for instance, attend the high school at Fortuna, where everything is free to the woodsmen students.
At Big Stone Gap, Va., those enrollees who have not had any schooling are required to attend semi-weekly elementary classes, while those who have completed grammar school are offered a course in shorthand and typewriting. Company officers act as instructors at results achieved by this phase of C.
C. C. work alone probably will more than compensate the country for the vast amount of money expended on the forestry camps project. . .
Some one ought to page Adolph Hitler on this one: An Oregon newspaper says, "Gentle showers have stayed the spread of the forest fires in Oregon." . . . Garbage disposal is a clutch at Chester, Calif., as the result of an idea born to the commanding officer when a colony of beasts attacked the food stores. He ordered a trough made and filled with garbage. Not only did Daddy Bear respond to the lure of free chow but he brought his family of ten along. The lieutenant is advertising a "bear feed" on the third day after the law is lifted. He figures that it will take all of two days to cook old Pop Bruin.

Company 1245 at Pensacola, Fla., is tickled pink over the arrival of a bunch of rookies from New York.
Seems that the boys from the Empire State included in their number a bunch of good boxers who can hit, plus a whole basketball team from the same high school. . . A simple, yet effective way of erasing a radio bug from the scene comes from Camp at Mineral, Wash. The peavie who was stepped on had rigged up a Ford coil as a transmitter and his antenna hung low over the company streets. All was jake until it began to rain and the company commander came along and bumped into the wire while Mr. Bug was pounding the key. Result—that station is now off the air, permanently. . . At the Gardens, Idaho, camp, they have discovered that cats are wise boxes.
The camp kitty wandered into the kitchen for her chow and was given a spoonful of "canned willie" (canned beef to you). She gave one long sigh, looked up at the cook and covered it up with her paw. . .
The boys stationed near Waynesboro, Ga., are so far back in the woods that their "breath smells like pine straw."

Opossum Misbehavior
The opossum habitations in the winter is cold enough. It is unable to survive very cold winters by storing up under its skin a plentiful supply of fat, which is drawn upon for nourishment during hibernation.

Cancer Traced to Smokers A French physician says that 14 per cent of cases of cancer of the skin traced in hospitals of Marseilles have been traced to smokers.

Stories About 4-H Club Members

Olga Bandygan
Olga Bandygan, Rifton, is a member of the 4-H Fife and Drum Corps from Rock School, which has become well known to Ulster county and to New York State 4-H groups.

During her first year in 4-H Club work, 1931, Olga was assistant song leader of the Rock School Homemaking Club. Evidently she was a good one, for the Rock School Club won the Ulster County Singing Contest that year and was invited to sing over radio station WGY, Schenectady. Olga took both cooking and sewing work in 1931. She kept a health habit score, prepared school lunches, milk dishes, vegetables, eggs and muffins, and made a printed batiste apron, a pair of pongee pajamas, a green 4-H uniform, and a pongee school dress. She says, "We learned the joy of saying, 'Yes, I made my dress.'" And why shouldn't Olga be proud to say that she made her dress, for her school dress took first place at the county fair? She placed first in the style review when she wore her school dress in competition with other girls of the county. Olga was also a member of the demonstration team that won first place at the county fair.
She received five other premiums on her sewing and foods exhibits that year and placed fourth in the homemaking judging contest.

Olga was chosen a delegate to Camp Pyke at state fair in Syracuse where she spent an enjoyable and profitable week. . .
In 1932 the Rifton 4-H Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps was organized, and the club members had the task of raising money to buy musical instruments and uniforms. They raised $200 in giving plays, suppers, dances, cake sales, and by selling 4-H homemade clam chowder. As Olga says, "We filled our community with clam chowder for a series of Fridays." The Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps was ready to lead the Rally Day parade.
At the time of the annual Drum Corps Contest at Highland, the Rifton 4-H Corps brought home three silver cups won by the club and three rop by individual members.

Olga chose sewing for her club work for 1932 and was thus able to add many new garments to her wardrobe. They included two cotton slips, and two pairs of shorts, another 4-H uniform, three school dresses, and her uniform for Fife, Drum, and Bugle Corps. . .
Again Olga won the style review at the Ulster county fair, and several prizes on her garments.

She had the honor of appearing on a Kiwanis program in March, 1932, where she told the Kiwanians of the history and program of the Rock School Club, stressing the ideals and values of 4-H Club work. Olga also sang some 4-H songs for them. . .
Winning the 4-H New Year's Resolution Contest that year gave Olga an opportunity to broadcast her resolutions on an Ulster county 4-H radio program from Schenectady.
During 1933, Olga made sewing her major project and room improvement her minor. Her work included making a night gown, a school dress, two blouses, a skirt, and caring for her bed room and making a quilt block. She again exhibited and took part in the activities at county fair.
Olga reports that she especially enjoyed the older girls' week-end camp this year. "Our most exciting experience was a trip to State Club Congress at Ithaca," Olga says. The Rifton Club had raised enough money to hire a bus and take 25 of their members to club congress. The drum corps was again invited to broadcast. Rifton Club members gave their operetta, "Sun Bonnet See," at Club Congress. . .
Olga has recently enrolled for her fourth year with the Rock School Home-making Club, and is still determined to make her best in 4-H Club work better.

Township Leaders For Christmas Seals

Chairmen of township committees forming the county organization which will conduct the 27th annual Christmas Seal Sale sponsored by the State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health have been appointed by Dr. Mary Gage-Day, county director of the sale.

In announcing the appointment of the various chairmen, Dr. Day said: "Last year $6,729.59 was raised from the seal sale in the county, practically all of which has been turned back into the county. Both city and rural people have responded so well in past campaigns that I know they will be even more enthusiastic to raise an even larger fund which will be necessary to carry on our projects for 1934."

Snake Charming
A snake can frighten a bird so that it remains rooted to the spot. A man can charm a snake by music, a slow monotonous whistling, or by stroking, but no snake can charm a man or a woman.

Don't take calomel!
HERE'S NEW HEALTH FOR YOUR LIVER

Now banish bad breath, pimples, constipation; feel like a million!

That tired, frowzy feeling in the morning, that "dark-brown" taste in the mouth—if you would banish them and win back buoyant health, don't expect relief from salts, mineral oil, or candy and chewing-gum laxatives.

For such remedies only move the bowels. While chances are, you're one of the thousands suffering from sluggish liver which does not yield sufficient bile—causing pimples, dizziness, headaches, bad breath and a general run-down feeling.

What you need is something which acts thoroughly but harmlessly upon the liver. And in Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets you will find that "something," which stimulates the bile flow.

Successful substitute for calomel, these famous tablets are composed of pure vegetable ingredients, and have been tried for years by millions.

To get and keep the bile flowing freely—constipation, pimples, dizziness, and with best "laxative" feeling of youth—go to your drugstore for Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets today. 15c, 25c, 50c, 1.00.

tea, milk.Two women and four men drink milk. The milk yield ranges from 55 to 57 pounds per day; condensed milk is also used. Heat butter is used; 120 pounds a month.The large dining room, used also as an assembly hall, has one table for women and three for men. Trays were prepared for five women and six men; no special diets.Breakfasts are varied with three cereals, scrambled eggs on Sundays and hash some breakfasts and suppers.Recent dinners and suppers: Tuesday, dinner: Stew of pork and vegetables, sliced tomatoes, bread, butter, tea, milk.

Supper not recalled.

Wednesday, dinner: Hamburger steak, boiled potatoes, squash, bread, butter, tea, milk.Supper: Lima beans, cucumbers, bread pudding, bread, butter, tea, the average.

X. Sanitation

Conditions are satisfactory except that bathing facilities are inadequate.
Sewage runs through pipes and a ditch down a steep grade into a natural pit remote from buildings and dwellings. No trouble or complaints reported.

XI. Care of the Sick

Patients thought to be in need of hospitalization are transferred to hospitals in the city. The present rate for routine care is now $3 a day. The need for an infirm in connection with the home is recognized, and various plans, such as fitting up the third floor of the main building for this use, have been considered. A separate infirm building may be provided if state and federal aid be granted.Of the six deaths since the last inspection, three occurred at the Benedictine Hospital. The three deaths were: June 1, senility; August 20, heart failure; June 1, senility; August 20, heart failure. The other deaths occurred January 9, January 28, January 31.One inmate not counted in this report is a patient in the Benedictine Hospital. The insane woman, colored, is to be transferred to a state hospital.As stated before, five women and six men now require tray service.
These persons are crippled or feeble or disturbing.One of the two city physicians, H.
L. Van Norstrand, M. D., comes once a week and on call. He registers seven visits in August. He records the names of patients treated, his examination of inmates and filled out the approved type of medical history of each inmate. Nursing is done by the nursing attendant and others.

XII. Welfare and Diversions

Religious services are held each Sunday in the women's living room.
Six of the men usually attend these services. A priest comes on call.
Most of the inmates can get downtown, either in the superintendent's car or in a bus; the fare is 15 cents.
No passes to movie houses are furnished. The Knights of Columbus gave a picture (moving) program before Christmas. There was one band concert this summer and another is expected. There is no radio for inmates. Reading matter is abundant. Diversions, visits to and by friends and benefits of various kinds from individuals and societies are, of course, plentiful in comparison with the situation in rural pub-being served a week earlier on account of Thanksgiving Day. There county home, etc., were some of the suggestions.Supervisor Boice of Ulster suggested that the towns plan a program in addition to any county program. In his town he said there were many unemployed who formerly worked in Kingston but were unemployed. They resided in his town which practically surrounds the city and were out of work. Supervisor Wright stated he had no road projects which could be done. Supervisor Dunshee also reported the same condition. It was suggested that some road be added upon which these unemployed could put men to work. Rock cuts, straightening of curves in roads and similar work was suggested.The only cost to the county or town will be for materials and machinery. Hand work so far as possible is suggested by the government as to give as much work as possible to the most men, but at the same time not waste the funds. The government will care for compensation insurance and it will not be necessary for the town to raise money for advance payments pending the time the government pays the men. The rate of pay for this district is 50 cents per hour for unskilled labor and $1.20 for skilled labor for a thirty hour week.This matter will probably be further discussed Tuesday evening.

The committee on apportionment of mortgage tax money made a report apportioning the money as outlined in the report of mortgage tax money received at a prior session.
The supervisors with one exception asked that the money be paid to the town by check, rather than being apportioned to the district of taxes.
Supt. David of Marlborough asked for the money to be used for reduction of taxes in his town. The apportionment was the same as given at a prior session except in towns where there is an incorporated village where the village and town split. The city of Kingston gets $2,242.52. New Paltz village gets $1,674.42. Rosendale village, $21.26; Saugerties village, $336.25; Pine Hill $22.02 and Ellenville $212.20.
The committee on apportionment is J. L. Rowe, R. F. Charlton and L. T.
Scanlon. The report of the committee was adopted.A communication was received from the Conservation Commission stating the amount of money which must be raised in the various towns to pay the towns share of the cost of fighting forest fires. The towns pay half the cost as follows: Denning $26.19 pay.
Esopus $213.02 raise.
Hurley $60.07 pay.
Kingston $70.03 raise.
Lloyd $2.40 pay.
Marlborough $52.13 pay.
Olive $2.57 raise.
Plattekill $19.25 raise.
Rochester $138.12 raise.
Rosendale $59.04 raise.
Saugerties $255.57 raise.
Shandaken $24.01 raise.
Shawangunk $41.82 pay.
Slater $30.67 pay.
Wawarsing $173.73 raise.
Woodstock $176.50 raise.In the towns where the supervisor decided to pay the charge it will be paid from money on hand, in other towns it will be raised by tax levies. The communication was received and referred to committee on towns and county accounts.County Clerk James A. Simpson submitted his annual report of fees received by his office and turned over to the county treasurer. The report was referred to the committee on County Clerk and Surrogate. The report showed the following receipts: Recording mortgages $2,927.75. Recording mortgages on land, in New York, $2,927.75. Recording of taxes, $2,175.17. Docketing judgments and cancelling dockets $362.75.
Copies and exemplifications of papers and records $278.34. Filing papers and all other services $1,468.22.
Total receipts $10,714.11. In addition thereto the clerk also received and turned over to the county treasurer the following sums: Recording tax on mortgages $13,842.49; Motor License Fees $672.27. Naturalization Fees $482.50. Marriage License Fees $587.00. Passports fees $38.00.
A communication was received from the State Department of Taxation and Finance which was received and filed. It stated that it would be necessary to raise a total of for the fiscal year the sum of $18,867.36 for the following purposes: Armory purposes on total equalized valuation of $36,320,069 $9,820.47 Court and stenographers' expenses on assessed valuation of $65,776,054 $9,046.89 There were 31 supervisors present and Supervisor Flach was excused by the chair.Clerk DeWitt announced that the committee on Equalization, Supervisors Elsworth, Starbrough, Duns-hee, Lyons, E. Rowe, Wells, Voss and Jenks, would meet Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to begin work.
The committee on highway accounts will meet at 2 Wednesday afternoon.

How to Reduce Heating Costs

By JOHN BARCLAY.

Heating Experts

I recently received a very interesting letter from Mrs. H. P. M. of Cortland, New York. My answer to her covered so many of the points that are bothering home owners that I am devoting my article this week to a complete reproduction of this letter.Adjust the damper on feed door to the following manner: Open the damper slightly when firing fuel, permitting a small amount of air to be drawn into the furnace. This air is used to burn off the gases from the fresh coal as they are being released. The result is a very bright flame. Shortly after this the slide in the fire-door can be shut tightly. The air now is being supplied through the ash-pit damper to the fire bed. It is a matter of personal preference if you wish to leave the fire-door slide open at all times. If this is done, the opening should be very tight. If open wide, too much air is permitted to enter the furnace and this results in heat loss up the chimney.Shaking the fire and emptying the ashes are two distinct separate operations. It should be necessary to shake the fire only once a day, the time being one of personal preference. The removal of ashes can be done at anytime, but never allow the ash-pit to become clogged. For most efficient results, have the ash-pit clean at all times.The reason for wetting ashes is to cut down on fly-ash permeating throughout the cellar and house.
When shaking the fire, temporarily set the damper so that the draft damper is open and the check damper closed. The draft will have a tendency to carry these minute dust particles up the chimney. The best arrangement for wetting down ashes would be to have a spray attached to the water line. Then it would be only necessary to open the water valve while shaking, and close it when through shaking. If the ashes are to be sprayed with ahouse, this operation should be done just before removal of ashes. If done immediately after shaking, a cloud of fine ash particles will back into the basement as the ash-pit door is opened. Try not to play a stream of water upon the grate.
If there is a layer of ash upon the grates, the grates never become very hot and there is no danger of cracking. If the ash that lies upon these grates is sprayed, there is a possibility this ash will pack and may cut down on the draft action.When fresh fuel is put on a fire, the first step in combustion is the distillation of the gases in the coal.
These are the gases that burn with a very blue flame. It is more efficient to burn these gases than to send them up the chimney uncombusted. There is very little danger of doing this if the proper method of firing is used. Before putting on fresh fuel, pull the red hot coals forward toward the fire door. For doing this, use the hoe-like implement furnished with your furnace equipment. Be cautious in not digging too deeply, mixing red hot coals and ashes together as you pull the red coals forward. In the resulting hollow to the rear of the fire-pot, place the fresh fuel making sure that a spot of red coals are left uncovered at the front of the fire-pot. This band of red coals acts as a pilot and will ignite the gases from the fresh fuel as it is distilled off. At all times, build up the fuel bed to a level with the bottom of the fire door. Thick fuel beds do not mean you will burn more coal, but it does mean you will have longer firing periods and fewer trips to the basement.(If you have any heating problems address John Barclay, Room 1914, 120 Broadway, New York City. He will be glad to reply in a personal letter.)several special districts of the town

The hymns sung were "Faith Is the Victory" and "Dear to the Heart of the Shepherd."The evening service sermon sub-

A number of people from this place called on Mrs. Hoffman at the Rosendale Hospital nearly every day of the last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Dorman and son, Edwin, of Highland spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. LeFevre and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smodes and family of Glen Rock, N. J., spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. M. Smodes, and returned to their home on Sunday. His mother accompanied them. They also visited Mrs. A. L. Nelson and son while there.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 21 (AP).—Financial markets displayed a few cloudy spots today notwithstanding the fact that the gold price was again boosted a dime on ounce and international dollar rates slipped to lower levels.

While both buyers and sellers were rather timid at times, and there was quite a bit of profit taking following yesterday's substantial rally, most stock leaders were not easily depressed. Sterling got up about 1 cent to move $5.37 and French franc advanced 1/4 of a cent to $24.45 cents, before easing. Grain and cotton were barely steady. U. S. government securities were slightly lower, but there were a number of recoveries in the corporation section.

Alcohol shares were a bit heavy. National Distillers, Schenley, American Commercial and U. S. Industrial Alcohol sagged around 2 to 3 points.

The metal story also lagged, with Melroe, Republic, Inco, Ferro, Cerrito de Pasco, Alaska Zinc and American Smelting falling 1 to 2.

The rails proved a disappointing factor, issues of Santa Fe, Southern and Ohio, New York Central and Pennsylvania holding steady, however, by American Steel, Republic, Continental Can and others.

U. S. Steel, U. S. Post, American Tobacco, Chrysler, Western Union and Radio-Macmillan yielded fractional amounts of more.

Some of the low alcohol, was attributed to renewed fears of high costs and heavy taxes.

With the dollar declining almost daily, some foreign observers have expressed surprise that England has not already stepped in to halt the falling pound. Others, however, feel there may be some sort of an agreement between the American authorities and the Bank of England whereby the British will remain neutral during the administrative experiment which involves the raising of commodity prices through the depreciation of dollars.

THE VLY

The Vly, Nov. 21.—The following pupils in the Vly school district, No. 12, were neither absent nor late during the week of November 13-17: Vivian Fedde, Arnold Fedde, Gordon Fedde, Harry Stange, Nils Stange and Doris Olson.

The Vly school is planning to have its annual Christmas tree under the direction of Clara Margaret Wynkoop and also in connection with the Methodist Episcopal Church on Saturday evening, December 23. Mrs. Wynkoop will be assisted by the Rev. and Mrs. O. H. Lockett, pastor from Olive Bridge, and also the Ladies' Aid of the Vly in preparing her program and presenting the completed entertainment, details of which will be announced later.

Church services are held in the Vly chapel every Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

Prepared to Save Lives.

One of the most valuable services given to the American public by the Red Cross is through its Life Saving and First Aid courses. Virtually all of the life guards at beaches and pools in the nation are Red Cross life savers. Nearly every industry in America supports the First Aid work of the Red Cross because it annually saves lives of thousands of injured persons. These courses are taught by Red Cross experts in both lines. The regular weekly basketball program, sponsored by the Z. N. P. Sporting Club, will go on tonight at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, where a crowd is expected to witness the two tilts scheduled and enjoy the dance with music by Andy's orchestra following them.

charges will be as successful tonight, although the team will play without Chet Kiefer, star guard, who was injured. Joe Kiefer will replace him. The rest of the lineup includes Billy Kennick, Louis Molase, Cas Mustakiewicz, Johnny Dadek, E. Mustakiewicz, and Randy Kiefer, brother of Chet.

The preliminary, bringing together two girls teams, the Z. N. P. Girls and Girls Friendly Society of Holy Cross Church, will start at 7:30. The Polish Club will use Agnes Stopak, Frances Napela, Rose Janis, Sophie Zolowski, Gertrude Baboltz, Agnes Kiefer, Clara Wrobelaki, Evelyn Huskowiak. Interest In Wrestling Show Presages Crowd for Legion

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

"There is no hard feeling," writes H. T. of Louisville, in connection with our series of stories on the football situation at Notre Dame, "but I just wanted to let you know that I still am a drug-store quarterback, paying to see the team; therefore I would like to see a winning team."

In these few blunt words lies the answer to the whole problem, whether anybody in authority likes to admit it or not. It applies not alone to Notre Dame but to any major college or university, anywhere in the United States, which adopts or attempts a policy of consistently building championship gridiron teams. If and when they fail to win, the cash customers, frankly, want to know why and demand that something be done.

Notre Dame is, of course, going to do something about the situation there, not particularly because of the clamor among the "drug-store quarterback" but because the tradition of winning teams is so firmly associated with the university's football program that it is a matter of pride as well as necessity.

There is nothing strange in this. It merely repeats the whole history of big college football. It happens at the moment that more attention is directed to the Notre Dame situation than any other and that the dismal showing of the Fighting Irish so far this year surprised even those who feared the worst.

National Reaction
As most everyone knows, Notre Dame football, so-called, is played from one side of the country to the other. With variations of the backfield shift and other Rockne formations, the system is taught at dozens of the bigger universities by distinguished graduates of the 91-year-old institution at South Bend, nourished athletically as well as scholastically by the fathers of the Order of Holy Cross.

From Father John S. O'Hara, C. S. C., the acting president of Notre Dame, down to and including the youngsters who gallop around the backyards of South Bend on Saturdays in home-made blue and gold uniforms, the Fighting Irish always provided football thrills. They have been so consistently victorious that it is a severe shock to one and all when a losing streak develops.

Multiply this feeling wherever the Notre Dame System is employed or wherever there are followers of the one-time Ramblers and you can gather an idea of the national concern. Coaching products of the System who looked to "headquarters" for inspiration over so long a period have felt an increasing reaction since Rockne's death. Alumni have become hoarse from argument.

They'll Be Back

The material is such and the loyalty so firm that Notre Dame should be able to stage a real come-back under the direction of Jesse Harper, who will pick the next coach and set the football house in order for 1934.

Naturally, with the return of one of this generation of coaching products, the spirit of rivalry with Notre Dame will replace the attitude of pupil toward master that existed in Rockne's reign. This situation will be healthy enough, for the sake of competition and business, so long as the man in charge at headquarters extracts the maximum out of his opportunities.

Hebrew-Americans To Open Season Next Monday Night

Sammy Rosenberg's Hebrew-Americans, that last season won 34 out of 39 games, 21 of the victories being consecutive, will inaugurate their activities for this winter on Monday night, November 27, at the Downtown Jewish Community Center.

Today Rosenberg announced that opposition for his club in its takeoff will be furnished by the Newburgh Hakoahs, a club composed of some of the stellar cage talent of the Hilly City, including Mickey Chumas, Argento, Green and Fisher, former high school and semi-pro players.

Endeavoring to hold off the Hakoahs in a court fight that is expected to be brimming with plenty of gin-quarters in Eddyville.

With Wheat Men and Women

You cannot always choose your companions; you can always choose your books. You can, if you will, spend a few minutes every day with the best and wisest men and women the world has ever known.

One of Strangest Creatures

The hydra, a small fresh-water polyp, is one of nature's strangest creatures. It is capable not only of swallowing an animal fifty times its own size, but of functioning normally when turned inside out.

Gypsy Moth From France

The gypsy moth, a serious menace to American trees, was introduced from France in 1869 on the fraudulent notion that the moths could be creamed with silkworm moths to produce a hardy race of silk-producing insects.

Mr. Roosevelt's Bridle Habits
Washington, Nov. 21 (AP).—Mrs.
William D. Roosevelt says she still likes to squeeze in a horseback ride twice a week, but it's rather difficult these busy days. Sometimes, she even gets all dressed and finds no chance to go. That last Friday morning was no start. She decided to wait till Henry Morgenstau, Jr., is as under secretary of the city.

"AMERICAN" MARCHES AHEAD!

—from Maine to Florida!

FOUR great forces in the oil industry combine! And from this union is born a character of service and quality of products new to the people of this section.

These four great companies are:

American Oil Company, and subsidiaries Pan American Petroleum & Transport Company, and subsidiaries
Mexican Petroleum Corporation
Lord Baltimore Filling Stations, Inc.

Companies of vast resources, efficient personnel, fine and extensive facilities, outstanding products, large sales volume and extraordinary good-will—united to bring the unusual merit of distinctive products and distinctive service to the entire Atlantic Seaboard, from Maine to Florida, and elsewhere.

Foremost among these distinguished products are—AMOCO-GAS, the original special motor fuel; Orange AMERICAN GAS, the finest of regular gasolines; and AMOCO Motor Oils—the "big three" of quality in their respective fields.

Among motorists of Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio and North Carolina—where the American Oil Company is a foremost oil organization—these three great products have captured vast popularity. Now they move—northward through Northern New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine—and southward to South Carolina, Georgia and Florida—to bring new fuel economies to new friends.

It's a success story written by millions of motorists on the road. And as "AMERICAN" Marches Ahead into new territory*, the approval of these millions marches with it.

The next of the series "AMERICAN" MARCHES AHEAD! follows in a few days
... Watch for it! ... Read it! ... Profit by it!
